TERESSA BELISSIMO

THE ORIGIN OF THE BUFFALO WING

THE REAL STORY OF THE BUFFALO CHICKEN WING began one night in May of 1964 as hungry friends of the Belissimo family stopped by their legendary restaurant, the Anchor Bar, in Buffalo, New York.

It had been a busy night, and there wasn't much left in the pantry for Teresa Belissimo to cook, so she improvised.

She cut a few chicken wings into two parts—the “flaps” and “drums”—deep-fried them until they were crispy, and tossed them in a buttery hot sauce. A little celery and some Bleu Cheese dressing, and history was made!

Teressa's invention, The Buffalo Chicken Wing, was an instant hit, and people flocked to Anchor Bar (no pun intended) to try them. Today, the Buffalo Wing is an international culinary phenomenon.

60+ years, one James Beard Award, and countless other honors later, Anchor Bar remains the home of the first and the “Best Wings in the World.”
